W. W. Reed, druggist, of Winchester Ind., writes: "One of my customers, Mrs. Louisa Pike, Bartonia, Randolph Co., Ind., was a long sufferer with Consumption, and was given up to die by her physicians. She heard of Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, and began buying it of me. In six months' time she walked to this city, a distance of six miles, and is now so much improved she has quit using it. She feels she owes her life to it." AMERICA'S FARMS.

The Development They Have Caused During the Past Fifty Years.

The farms of America comprise 837,328 square miles, an area nearly equal to one fourth of Europe, and larger than the four greatest European countries put together (Russia excepted), namely, France, Germany, Austria and Hungary and Spain. The capital invested in agriculture would suffice to buy up the whole of Italy, with its rich olive groves and vineyards, its historic cities, cathedrals and palaces, its King and aristocracy, its Pope and Cardinals, and every other feudal appurtenance. Or, if the American farmers were to sell out, they could buy the entire peninsula of Spain, with all its traditions of medieval grandeur, the flat lands which the Hollanders at vast cost have wrested from the sea and the quaint old towns they have built there. If he chose to put by his savings for three years the Yankee farmer could purchase the fee-simple of pretty Switzerland as a summer resort, and not touch his capital at all, for each year's earnings exceed £110,000,000 sterling.

The farms of America equal the entire territory of the United Kingdom, France, Belgium, Germany, Austria, Hungary and Portugal. The corn fields equal the extent of England, Scotland and Belgium; while the grain fields generally would overlap Spain. The cotton fields cover an area larger than Holland, and twice as large as Belgium. The rice fields, sugar and tobacco plantations, would also form kingdoms of no insignificant size. And such is the stage of advancement reached by American agriculturists, that Mulhall estimates that one farmer like Dr Glin or Mr. Dalrymple, with a field of wheat covering one hundred square miles, can raise as much grain with four hundred farm servants as five thousand peasant proprietors in France.

The cereal crop for 1880 was more than 2,500,000,000 of bushels. If placed in one mass this would make a pile of 3,500,000,000 cubic feet. Built into a solid mass as high as the dome of St. Paul's (365 feet), and as wide as the cathedral across the transept (285 feet) it would extend a solid load of grain, down Fleet street and the length of the Strand to Piccadilly, thence on through Knightsbridge, Hammersmith and South Kensington, to a distance of over six miles. Or it would make a pyramid three times as great as that of the Cheops. If loaded on carts it would require all the horses in Europe and a million more (33,500,000) to remove it, though each horse drew a load of two tons. Were the entire crop of cereals loaded on a continuous train of cars, the train would reach one and one-half times around the globe. Its value is half as great as all the gold mined in California in the thirty-five years since gold was found there. The corn and cotton fields of America form kingdoms in themselves surpassing in size some of those of Europe.—From A. Carnegie's "Triumphant Democracy," published by Charles Scribner's Sons.

DISCOVERIES AT ZOAN.

The Rare Archæological Relics Recently Found in Egypt.

Zoan was the seat of the Pharaoh of Joseph, the scene of the miracles of Moses, being situate in that pastoral district, which in the hieroglyphic records, as well as in the Hebrew Chronicles, bore the name of "the field of Zoan"; and which, under its classical name of Tanis, continued so late as the times of the Ptolemies to play an important part in the history of the ancient world. It was the chief city of the Delta during the most interesting two or three thousand years of Egyptian history; it owed much of its splendor to Rameses II., who restored and built here upon a scale of extraordinary magnificence—the King when "the Egyptians made the children of Israel to serve with rigor."

At San are the remains of a city once hardly inferior in grandeur to Thebes itself, while about it, as the capital of the Hyksos or Shepherd Kings, as the Zoan of the Bible and the Tanis of the Greeks, centers a sacred interest and an historical value peculiarly its own. Here, to illustrate the gigantic masonry of the place, Mr. Petrie disclosed the broken portions of the greatest of all colossi known to man—the Monolith of Rameses II.

Among the labors, discoveries or results at San, have been the successive and exhaustive surveys of the great temple, with mappings and photography of every object and mound in the enclosure; the critical scrutiny of every fallen block of the great pylon of Sheshonk III., trenching and shafting in many parts of the mounds; proof that the wall of Pieshkanm reaches entirely around the temple, and that the Ptolemaic stratum averages fifteen feet above the palaces and villas of the Hebrew period; a granite sarcophagus larger than the great one at Sakkarah; the unpublished half of the celebrated tablet of Tirhakah; an inscribed obelisk, in part, of the XIIIth dynasty; a curious Græco-Egyptian chapel, with valuable relics, a large stela of Ptolemy Philadelphus and five smaller ones; royal statuettes and sphinxes, discovery of the Great Necropolis and minor necropolises, and the disclosure of private dwellings of the pre-Ptolemaic and Roman times, containing many objects of special archæological and historical value to illustrate the domestic life and the worship of the periods represented.—N. Y. Observer.

—A young woman, who evidently hails from Boston, came out from a reading in a New York hall, the other day, and noticing that a sudden shower had come up entered a store and purchased a large sheet of stiff, brown wrapping-paper, which she turned into an old-fashioned shaker, and putting it over her bonnet walked home. The paper afforded a first-rate umbrella, and attracted to the miss a great deal of attention from the hurrying public. —N. Y. Sun.

—Little bees so made that they tremble with the slightest motion of the wearer, are among the new things in French jewelry.

Saved His Life.

Mr. D. I Wilcoxson, of Horse Cave, Ky., says he was, for many years, badly afflicted with Phthisic, also Diabetes; the pains were almost unendurable, and would sometimes almost throw him into convulsions. He tried Electric Bitters, and got relief from first bottle, and after taking six bottles, was entirely cured, and had gained in flesh eighteen pounds. Says he positively believes he would have died, had it not been for the relief afforded by Electric Bitters. Sold at fifty cents a bottle by Swearingen & Hubbard. a6

MONDAY EVE., JUNE 28, 1886

FITZ JOHN PORTER is put on the retired list, and the widow of General Hunter, who presided at the court-martial that tried Porter, is denied a pension of $50 a month. This is the kind of history that is made when the Southern Confederacy is in the saddle.

THE free-trade Democrats in 1884 declared in a thousand ways that the tariff was not an issue in the election. The people in several manufacturing districts took them at their word and elected anti-free-trade Democrats to Congress. Now the free-traders are attempting to read these anti-free-trade Democratic Congressmen out of the Democratic party.

THE works of the Edison Electric-Light Company are to be removed from near Brooklyn to Schenectady. A strike of the building trades did it. This lesson will be taught swiftly and surely: that the city where strikes occur frequently will lose manufactories giving employment to thousands. There is no citizen who is not, directly or indirectly, affected by a strike.

IT is pretty hard to speculate on the future of English politics. When the Gladstone Ministry went under on the Home Rule bill it seemed as if the tide were setting all one way; and now the Opposition is almost on the defensive. It is difficult for the man who has not kept himself informed to reason this out: yet it is the effect of two elements. There happens to be in England a big pliable vote, and there happens to be in England a man who has made this vote, who has studied it, and who knows how to control it. This is Gladstone's strength. He knows the limit of his power politically; and, knowing what he may dare, is the strongest politician in the world to-day. He is a marvel. Drink milk when you reach 60.

THE Pennsylvania Republicans will hold their State convention at Harrisburg next Wednesday. This year Pennsylvania elects a Governor and other State officers. The present Governor is a Democrat, but the Democrats have no chance for success. The Blaine campaign of 1884 thoroughly united the Republicans, and prepared the way for victory General Beaver will undoubtedly be their candidate for Governor. As the present Governor vetoed the bills for redistricting the State which were passed by the Legislature, it will be necessary to choose a Congressman at-large at the coming election. The candidates are General Lilly and C. W. Hazzard.

THE Carlists have started a story that the new king of Spain is not a royal baby, but the child of an Austrian woman who is now occupying commodious quarters in the palace. It is asserted that a number of women near their confinement were taken to the palace shortly before the Queen's lying in, for the purpose of making an exchange for a boy if the royal baby proved to be a girl, and the retention of this Austrian woman is given as proof that a transfer was really made.

LOUISVILLE Courier-Journal: Further toleration of the methods of Mr. Randall by the Democratic party means simply the abandonment of party organization. The editor of the New York Sun insists that the only hope of the party is in conciliating the protectionist. The Sun is grievously in error in all of its calculations. As shown by the vote in the House the element called free trade by the Sun has four votes to one controlled by Mr. Randall, and this element is in need of some conciliation just now. Mr. Lincoln was once disturbed by a noise in the nursery and investigated it. He found that Tad was crying for Bob's knife. "O, give it to him, Bob, to keep him quiet," said Mr. Lincoln. "No," said Bob, "I need it to keep me quiet."

ST. LOUIS Globe-Dem.: Mrs. Cleveland is afraid her husband is working too hard and thinking too much. She might suggest to him, with a view to lightening his labors, that it isn't really necessary for him to spend so much time in preparing messages to Congress for the purpose of instructing that body on the subject of legislative methods. By foregoing that sort of thing, he might not only make his work easier, but also avoid the appearance of ignorance concerning the ordinary rules of official courtesy and propriety.

Another Fallen Angel.

NEVADA, Mo., June 27.—Yesterday morning the wife of Elder J. Elliott entered a suit for divorce. This was the culmination of the greatest scandal this city has ever known. Two weeks since it was rumored that Elder Elliott was guilty of acts very unbecoming in a preacher but for some time it was impossible to get the particulars. Little by little the truth came to the surface, until the case culminated in a church trial last week. For a number of years Elliott has made this city his headquarters, but has preached for various churches in this section of the State, and not long since held the pastorship of the church at Fayetteville, Ark. He is a man of good address and a rather handsome figure. His wife is a refined lady, above the average intelligence, and has for several years successfully conducted a private school in this city.

Elliott's offense was a liaison with a mulatto woman who lives in this place. It has been in progress for some time, but it was only two weeks ago that it was discovered. He had written a note to the woman arranging for a meeting and intrusted it to a negro man. The messenger proved unfaithful and exposed the note to a prominent attorney of the city. An inkling of the facts was soon communicated to others and an arrangement was made to egg the preacher while on his way to fulfill his engagement. Some one warned him and he remained away.

A few days afterwards the officers of the Christian church learned of the affair and promptly commenced an investigation. The delinquent preacher was brought before the tribunal and accused of the liason. He entered a general denial and at the suggestion of one of the officers, and with Elliott's consent, two negro men were introduced, one the messenger, another a carriage-driver. The first detailed the manner in which the note had been committed to his care and the reason which induced him to show it. The carriage-driver said that on two occasions at night he had driven Elder Elliott and the woman out of the city and had waited for them while they went off into the darkness by themselves. Elliott asked the witnesses a few trivial questions and exhibited the utmost indifference to the result

The officers of the church balloted as to his guilt or innocence, and each of the thirteen voted guilty. A committee was appointed to notify his wife, and her reception of the news constituted a very sad scene. Last night Elliott left for Lexington, Ky. For some time he has been preaching to a congregation at Moundville, in this county, but ten days ago he received word that his services would be dispensed with at that point. To-day the Christian Church at this place will formally depose Elliott.

A First-Class Lynching Probable.

GAINESVILLE, Tex., June 27.—Yesterday morning at one o'clock the citizens of East Gainesville were aroused by a woman's screams for help. Hurrying to the place it was learned that a negro brute had attempted an outrage upon the person of a Mrs. Cook, but was frightened away by the approach of neighbors in answer to the lady's distressing cries for assistance. Mr. Cook was not in town, he having gone to the country on Thursday. Mrs. Cook retired later than usual and took the precaution to fasten down the windows. About one o'clock she was awakened by a grasp on her throat, and, looking up, discovered a large negro stooping over her. She was powerless to scream, and began a desperate struggle. Her little babe beside her was awakened and began to cry, when the brute, with an oath, raised his arm and attempted to strike it, but the blow was warded off by the mother. Mrs. Cook's grown daughter, attracted by the noise, ran into the room and began to strike the negro in the back. A terrible struggle then ensued between the wretch and daughter and mother. The latter was caught around the throat, choked, dragged from her bed to the front door and struck a blow in the mouth which loosened a number of her teeth. The negro was tripped at the door, when Mrs. Cook pounced upon him and called to her daughter to bring the ax. Rising to his feet, he started to run, when he fell again. He ran by parties who were hurrying to the scene, and came out in the direction of town. Bloodhounds were brought to the scene and put upon his track, but were able to follow the track but a short distance.

An examination showed that Mrs. Cook had been terribly abused. Her neck was greatly swollen from the choking, and there were bleeding wounds all over her body. When she walked to a neighbor's, some 200 yards distance, she could be tracked by blood. A number of negroes were arrested during the day and taken before the woman, and both identified one Ed. Williams, a powerful negro, as the guilty party. Williams has been here but a short time and lived in Sherman and Texarkana. There are other circumstances which connect Williams with the occurrence and talk of lynching is freely made. The community is greatly excited over the affair and a first-class hanging is probable.

Fatal Termination of a Quarrel Between Brothers.

MARION, Ill., June 28.—On the afternoon of the 25th inst., late in the day, a man named Andrew Leith was shot and killed by his brother, Tom Leith, on a farm a mile and a quarter northeast of Creal Springs, in this (Williamson) county. The particulars, which have just been received, as given by the man who did the killing, who was the only witness to the terrible affair, are as follows: The two Leiths were making a crop together. About a week previous to the killing they had a difficulty in which knives were drawn and much bad blood exhibited. Nothing serious, however, came of this quarrel. On the day of the fatal trouble the two were hauling hay, and when they had both gotten on top of the load the deceased remarked to his brother:

"Tom, I am going to kill you."

At the same time he drew a knife. Tom grasped the hand that held the knife with one hand and held it, and with the other drew a revolver and shot his brother through the breast. The wounded man rolled off the load of hay to the ground, exclaiming:

"Tom, you have killed me!"

Tom then jumped to the ground and shot his brother through the breast a second time. The wounded man died in a very few minutes. Tom Leith went to Creal Springs and told the foregoing story and gave himself into the hands of the authorities, where he is held, pending investigation. The Leiths bear the reputation of desperate men when angered. They came to this county from Tennessee about a year ago.

Robbed by Highwaymen.

SAN ANTONIO, Tex., June 27.—W. B. Taylor, a young horse dealer, who resides in San Antonio and does business at the various horse ranches occasionally, was held up on the Bandora road, near the cedar brakes, twenty-eight miles from here, and relieved of his horse and all the money he had in his possession, some thirty dollars. There were two of the robbers, and their demand to "hold your hands up" was accompanied by the usual presentation of pistols. Taylor was not armed, and hence made no resistance, nor did they offer to harm their victim. Taylor did not so much care for the money as he did for the horse, for in the absence of his trusty steed he had to walk to the nearest town and telegraph for money to get home on. This robbery was perpetrated but a few miles from the Helots cave, indicating that that famous band may have been recruiting recently.

Capture and Escape of a Crook.

SEDALIA, Mo., June 27.—At an early hour yesterday morning the police arrested a crook named E. Carp, and found in his possession a carpet-sack filled with jewelry, knives, a gold watch and chain and a lot of other plunder, besides a well-filled wallet. He was lodged in the station-house. At noon while the officers were absent he pried the door of the jail open with a plank and made good his escape, although a large force of men scoured the country in every direction in hopes of securing the reward offered for his capture. Several hotels and private houses have been sacked by him the past week. He is a well-dressed, good-looking man of slight stature, about thirty years of age and has the name E. Carp pricked in his right arm with India ink.

Illegal Venders of Whisky Punished.

CERRO GORDO, Ill., June 26.—The past has been a hard week in the Platt County Court for the illegal venders of whisky. Judgment was entered for fines against Pat Carlin amounting to $750, besides a sentence of thirty days in the county jail. Carlin is the man who openly conducted a dramshop at Cisco, in this county, without a license, but skipped the place just before the assembling of the grand jury He was afterward arrested and brought back for trial. Jack Williams, a gallon saloon man from Bement, was fined $250.

Committed Without Bail.

JOPLIN, Mo., June 27.—Wm. Allen, the man who so unmercifully beat Dr. J. B. Morgan, a druggist of this city, over the head with a chair at Belleville on Thursday, was committed to jail yesterday morning without bail, to await the result of Morgan's injuries. Allen is well known in this section, but is not quarrelsome only when intoxicated. It is claimed he had no provocation whatever in striking his victim. Dr. Morgan is resting as easy as could be expected, but there is little hope of his recovery.

Fitz-John Porter's Joy.

NEW YORK, June 27.—The following telegram was sent yesterday by General Fitz-John Porter to Senator Wm. J. Sewell, of New Jersey, and explains itself:

God bless you and your associates for your kind, generous and earnest efforts in my behalf. Now I am indeed happy. You have sustained the acts of my army comrades and other friends, dead and living, whose unwavering support through these many years has ever warmed my heart and brightened my hopes. You have put the seal of commendation on the findings of the advisory boards, so honorable to its members and so just to me, and at last, thanks to you and my many friends in and out of Congress, I can enjoy a triumph so grateful and complete.

In the afternoon there will be a sham battle and games of base ball between home nines and visiting clubs, all to be wound up with a big display of fire-works in the evening.

DAVID DAVIS.

Death of the Distinguished Statesman at His Home in Bloomington.

The Sufferings of a Seven Weeks' Illness Supplemented by a Painless and Quiet Death.

The Remains Lying in State—Funeral To-Morrow—Biographical Sketch of the Deceased.

BLOOMINGTON, Ill., June 27.—Judge David Davis, after a six weeks' illness, died at a few minutes after eight o'clock yesterday morning. He had suffered from diabetes for some time and since the first of May had also suffered with erysipelas and a carbuncle. He became unconscious Friday noon and gradually sank. At eleven o'clock Friday night he aroused somewhat and was given some milk punch, but he quietly lapsed into a state of stupor and so remained. At five in the morning he rallied a little and talked incoherently. His death was painless and quiet and he passed away as if going to sleep. Those present at his bedsides were his wife, his son, George P. Davis, and wife; his daughter, Mrs. Sarah Swayne, and husband, the latter a son of Justice Swayne; his granddaughter, Miss Alice Davis; his niece, Mrs. Pierrepont, of Chicago; his cousin, John Walker of this city; his friend, Mr. Frank D. Orme, of Washington, and Dr. Luce, the family physician.

As soon as death came the bells in the city were tolled and flags hung at half-mast. All the business houses were draped in mourning.

The funeral will occur on Tuesday afternoon at three o'clock, Rev. W. G. Pierce, of Champaign, Ill., a cousin of his first wife, officiating. The pall-bearers will be ex-Postmaster-General W. Q. Gresham, Governor R. J. Oglesby, Hon. Robert T. Lincoln, Judge Thos. Drummond of the United States Court, Chicago; Hon. Lawrence Weldon, of the United States Court of Claims; Judge John M. Scott, of the Illinois Supreme Bench; Hon. A. E. Stephenson, First Assistant Postmaster-General; L. G. Fisher, a Chicago business man and son of an old friend of the Judge; Hon. C. H. Moore, of Clinton, Ill.; Colonel R. B. Latham, of Lincoln, Ill., and Hon. Jesse W. Felt, of Normal, Ill., his life-long friends; ex-Senator Joseph McDonald, of Indiana, and ex-mayor Funk; Hon. James Ewing and Luman Burr, of this city, and Frank D. Orme, of Washington. Eight will be acting pall-bearers and the remainder honorary.

The body will lie in state at his elegant home on Monday and Tuesday. The judge leaves an estate valued at $1,250,000, nearly all being in land. Telegrams of condolence have been received from prominent men all over the country.

The widow is much worn out by constant and devoted watching, but bears up bravely.

Senator Logan has been added to the list of those invited as honorary pall-bearers.

BIOGRAPHICAL.

David Davis was born in Cecil County, Maryland March 9, 1815. He was educated at the academy in Newark, Del., and at Kenyon College, Gambier, O., where he graduated on September 4, 1832. Here he formed the acquaintance of men who have become equally famed with himself. Edwin M. Stanton, the great War Secretary under Lincoln, was an intimate college friend of his. At the same institution Stanley Matthews, now Associate Justice of the Supreme Court of the United States, received the foundation of his future. Ex-President Hayes here, too, was a student. Henry Winter Davis, the "prince of parliamentary orators," if not an intimate associate, was a student at the same.

Having made a choice of the law as his profession, he in October, 1832, entered the law office of Judge Henry W. Bishop at Lenox, Mass. He was in Lenox for two years studying, and completed his preparatory studies with another year's attendance on the lectures of the Law school in New Haven, Conn., where he remained until the fall of 1835. He then came West, settling first in Pekin, and making a change of base to Bloomington a year later. Here among the manly pioneers Mr. Davis laid the foundation of his home and fortune. Here he succeeded to the law business of Mr. Jesse W. Fell. He took possession of Mr. Fell's office, on door east of White's drug store—the building standing near where John Moorehouse's shoe store is. Mr. Davis succeeded in law at once to very good practice. He was not a great or even a fluent talker, but he was a clear-minded man and soon took a front rank in his chosen profession. On the 20th of October, 1838, he married Miss Sarah Walker, of Lenox, Mass., a daughter of Judge Walker. He had become acquainted with her while studying law there and married her in his twenty-fourth year.

In the year 1840 Mr. Davis was the candidate of the Whigs for the office of State Senator against Governor Moore, but was defeated. The senatorial district then embraced the counties of McLean, Macon, Piatt, De Witt, McLean and Livingston. In 1842 he was named as a nomination for the same office, but two years afterward the call to party leadership for the third time was so persistently urged upon him that he could not resist. This contest resulted in his election as the Whig representative to the State Legislature, in which capacity he served acceptably to his friends and usefully to the public, during the winter of 1843-45, but declined to be a candidate for re-election. During the session he actively joined in the furtherance of the Illinois and Michigan canal, at that time a most vital scheme of internal improvement for Illinois.

In 1847 he was elected a member of the constitutional convention, and in 1848 was chosen by the people, without opposition, to be judge of the Eighth Judicial District, embracing four-teen counties.

Mr. Davis went to Chicago as a delegate to the Republican convention of 1860, and more than a week prior to the nomination he had, in connection with other friends of Mr. Lincoln, opened the Lincoln head quarters at the Tremont House, Chicago, where, and throughout the city, whenever delegates were to be found, he labored day and night almost sleeplessly, throughout the long contest, working with a zeal, assiduity and skill never surpassed, if ever equaled. And when those labors culminated in the choice of his trusted friend his feelings so overpowered him that not only then, but for hours after, in grasping the hands of congratulating friends he went like a child.

In 1861 Judge Davis was one of three appointed by President Lincoln to investigate the management of the quartermaster's department at St. Louis. The investigation was thorough and laid bare the corruption and mismanagement of affairs at St. Louis.

In 1862 Judge Davis was appointed by President Lincoln one of the associate justices of the Supreme Court of the United States.

In 1877, after a memorable session, the Illinois legislature elected him United States Senator over General Logan. He had not sought the honor, but he accepted it, and resigned his position on the Supreme Bench. Immediately upon his retiring from the Senate he went to Turkey, N. C., where on March 14, 1878, he was united in marriage to Miss Addie Bunn, who survives him. His first wife died on November 9, 1870.

In personal appearance he was about five feet and eleven inches high, had a large, commanding form, a broad, expansive forehead blue, penetrating eyes and a rather prominent nose. He had a very pleasant address and superior conversational powers. In his manner he was disposed to be familiar, particularly toward those who were modest in their demeanor and seemed to need encouragement. He was a very companionable man and much devoted to his friends. He was a straightforward business man, and had the best judgment in financial matters.

He leaves two children by his first wife, Mr George Perrin Davis and Mrs. Henry Swayne, both of whom reside in Bloomington The latter is the wife of a son of Justice Noah Swayne, of the United States Supreme Court. The judge leaves comparatively few relatives. He has a niece, Mrs. Pierrepont, living in Chicago, a niece, Mrs. John Hughes; a cousin Mrs. Lyman Betts, and a half brother, Mr. Lyman Betts, of this city. Mr. John Davis, who lives near Heyworth, in this county, is a nephew.

The degree of Doctor of Laws was conferred upon him by the Illinois Wesleyan College, Beloit College and Williams' College of Massachusetts.

How the Pension Bills Go Through Congress.

WASHINGTON, June 28.—Of all the pension bills reported to the Senate during the present session, Mr. Sawyer has himself reported more than half. Senator Mitchell, of Pennsylvania, chairman of the committee on pensions, has been absent through ill health, and the work of the committee has fallen into the hands of Senator Sawyer. While Mr. Sawyer has reported favorably on so many hundreds of pension bills, he has reported adversely upon a single one. Mr. Sawyer does the work of the whole committee.

Generally speaking, the committee, as a whole, never undertakes the investigation of a pension claim. The bills are referred to individual members of the committee for investigation, and the committee simply indorses the report of the investigating member. Mr. Sawyer, in his boundless sympathy with the old soldiers of the Republic and their heirs, has been eager to take the consideration of the pension claims that come his way, and fellow-members of the committee have been perfectly willing that he should be kept busy. Consequently the Senator has employed a staff of assistants to help him with the work.

The Senate refers the bill to the committee on pensions, the committee refers them to Mr. Sawyer, and Mr. Sawyer distributes them among his assistants, whom he generously pays out of his own pocket, to investigate and report. One of these assistants Mr. Sawyer is alleged to be especially proud of. His qualifications for making these investigations and reports the Senator thinks are without equal. This highly qualified assistant was at one time a medical gentleman of some promise in the West, and came into prominence as an expert in the case of Guiteau. On the adjudication of the Guiteau expert the pension bills referred to Mr. Sawyer by the committee are favorably reported to the Senate and rushed through without debate at the rate of three to five per minute.

Malicious and Unprovoked Murder.

CHICAGO, June 28.—Christopher Stein, Jr., a young man residing at 379 Park avenue, was assaulted by John Fleming, a coupe driver, in front of Geo. Hankins' saloon, near the corner of Clark and Madison streets, at four o'clock yesterday morning. The assault was apparently unprovoked. Fleming struck Stein with a blunt instrument of some kind and broke his skull, besides beating his face into a jelly. Fleming was arrested and Stein removed to the county hospital. He was unable to talk, although he groaned terribly. Death relieved him from his sufferings at half-past two o'clock yesterday afternoon. Fleming is held as a murderer.

Sam Jones and the Reporter.

ST. PAUL, Minn., June 28.—At the Bed Rock camp meeting yesterday afternoon the evangelist Sam Jones denied the newspaper statement that he had asserted on a previous day down in Georgia, that the Lord didn't object to the use of tobacco, asserting his statement to have been that the people of Georgia didn't object to it. Calling for a rising vote of those whose memory supported his declaration, several persons stood. He then asked for a showing for those who thought he had been correctly reported, whereon the reporter criticised mounted a table.

An Awful Doll.

PETERSBURG, Va., June 28.—James Casey, a well-known citizen of Louisville, Ky., accidentally fell from the high bridge on the Norfolk & Western Railroad yesterday afternoon and was fatally injured. The distance he fell was 120 feet. Both legs were broken and the body badly mangled. The high bridge is located about one mile east of Farmville, to which place the unfortunate man was carried on the west-bound passenger train.

Bomby's End.

NEW YORK, June 28.—The dead rhinoceros Bomby weighed two and a half tons, and three elephants dragged his carcass from the iron cage where it lay and on to a truck, which carried it to a retired spot, where a post-mortem was held. The brute died of pneumonia. The skeleton and stuffed hide will be placed in the museum of natural history.

Secretary Manning's Health.

WASHINGTON, June 28.—Mr. Brennan, Secretary Manning's private secretary, who has just returned from a visit to Hot Springs, says that Mr. Manning is in as good health now as at any time for six months before his recent illness, and that with the exception of a slight lameness, all effects of that kind has disappeared.

Another Suicide in the Family.

PITTSBURGH, Pa., June 28.—Mrs. Jno. Campbell, sister-in-law of Jno Griffin, the livery man who shot and killed himself Saturday night, committed suicide yesterday by taking laudanum. Ill-health and the suicide are believed to have been the cause which prompted her to the terrible act.

JUDGE DAVIS'S WEALTH

Latest Information Regarding Wealth Stood Up and Honestly Assessed

It must be enormous.

Judge Davis's wealth is hard to estimate Those who have pretended to know have gone from a small figure to a very large one It is safe to say that his estate will amount to not far from $1,250 000 But he leaves some debts and money due him and just what the property is worth it would be hard to say The following will show the number of acres he owns in Central Illinois

MIDDLE COUNTY
Bloomington Township	1 [illegible]
Normal "	[illegible]
Money Creek "	[illegible]
Gridley "	[illegible]
Chenoa "	[illegible]
Arrowsmith "	[illegible]
Total	[illegible]
OTHER COUNTIES
Livingston County	[illegible]
Woodford "	10
Piatt "	[illegible]
Macon "	10
DeWitt "	[illegible]
Total	[illegible]

This makes him the possessor of over 9 000 acres of land in Central Illinois, individually But in his partnership with Mr Moore, of Clinton, he owns much more. At the time of his death in DeWitt county they owned together 2 800 acres, and in this county 1,010 acres Here is nearly 4,000 acres of land, of which the judge owned half

The judge owned the following town lots

Bloomington	[illegible]
Normal	[illegible]
Leroy	[illegible]
Total	[illegible]

The value of these is hard to estimate, since some are vacant and others built upon

He owned the three story brick on the corner of Main and Front, occupied by a clothing store, and many hundreds of acres in Iowa, Missouri and Kansas

He possessed $40 000 in stock in the First National bank, but no bonds, notes, etc, of any value The estimate of $1,250 000 is a conservative and careful one, and is probably about what he was worth

DANIEL STOVER, a farmer living near Dalton, Moultrie county, has killed 120 rattlesnakes on his farm this spring, and exhibits 150 rattles in corroboration The snakes infest low, wet sod that has never been turned under by the plow

THE total number of pensioners on the rolls credited to Illinois is 30,251 divided as follows Invalids, 50, 77 widows, 10, 590, minor children, 6,088, dependent mothers 2,766, dependent fathers, 170 The total number of men furnished by the state during the war was 259,092, and the total number of pension applications has been 93,577

Made a Record at Clinton

Clinton Public 26th

GOING AROUND DECATUR.

The L, D & S Company's New Route West—What Will Decatur Do About It?

Years ago strenuous efforts were made by the Indianapolis, Decatur & Springfield Railway Company, through Director John K Warren and others, to secure the right of way up Cerro Gordo street for the western extension of the road, but all efforts failed, and various combinations were resorted to by rival roads to keep the L, D. & S. down and reduce it to a non-productive local line, going west no further than Decatur, except at heavy toll. The company has not been insensible to the fact that they must go further west, and failing to get through Decatur, they have decided to go around the city, by diverging from Casner Station, 9 miles east, going in a southeasterly course to Mt. Zion, thence to Elwin, on to Boody and Mt. Auburn, through a productive country to Springfield, thence on to Kansas City, the new route failing to strike the Sangamon river, thus obviating the expense of building a $10,000 bridge and maintaining the same.

This afternoon the chief engineer, Mr. Edwin A. Hill, and his corps of assistants arrived from Indianapolis, and to-morrow they will start out in vehicles and commence surveying the new route It will cost about $8,000 a mile to build the road on the route contemplated. Mr. Hill will make his headquarters in Decatur, and go out every morning in a vehicle to superintend the work.

So far as known, there is no way of getting the I, D & S road through Decatur, except at heavy expense If they could get through that street, the entire length of Cerro Gordo street would be confiscated, and the strip of land between the street and the Wabash road would be given up as residence property. It would become valuable for factory and warehouse use, as would also the land on the south side of Cerro Gordo street.

Does Decatur want another railroad through the city? It is a question for the people to decide.

Diverting the I, D. & S. along the route proposed will cut out Decatur and help build up towns south of us, and at the same time Indianapolis and Springfield will be benefitted to the great injury to the business interests of Decatur

Possibly something might be done to change the dark prospect, if all would unite in an effort to change the I, D & S. plans

If the route is built, Decatur would not be on the line, but simply a town connected by a spur from Casner, with a dummy train for a connection And then the company would doubtless change its name to the Indianapolis, Boody & Springfield road.
